Some say she has changed, she has answered them "I evolved and gained age and wisdom". She is even called for offering selfies to the fans. Since the start of the presidential campaign, Marine Le Pen has charted her course, despite the obstacles, as the heart of many deputies and faithful of the National Rally party, left her for the Reconquest party founded by Eric Zemmour in December 2021, as Guillaume Pelletier (Depute Republican), Gilbert Collard (Depute RN), and even Marion Marechal Le Pen, her niece. She force respect by her resistance in the face of adversity, and that makes her sexy, in front of other candidates who spend their time attacking and/or complaining and whining.

MARINE LE PEN SI RANKED BEHIND EMMANUEL MACRON In 1rd ROUND OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION OF 10 APRIL- ACCORDING to POLLINGS . The first round of the presidential election will take place on April 10, the second on April 24. According to the polls, the highest probability of seeing in the second round, the following candidates in descending order of % opinion of voting intentions of Emmanuel Macron (28%), Marine Le Pen (20%), Jean- Luc Melenchon (15%), Valérie Pécresse (10%), Éric Zemmour (10%) or, but as we have, these are only projections based on polls, which each election have proven to more or less accurate... We will strive to analyze objectively based on the dynamics of each of the twelve candidates. This dynamic, which has been confirmed for a few weeks now, already places Marine Le Pen, the candidate for the French Presidency, who has led the most solid campaign, which for the moment has made her resist all obstacles by continuing on her way. , never giving up or in the face of adversity and no longer in the face of betrayal and political low blows.

MARINE LE PEN UNVEILED A STRONG PROGRAM WITH 22 PROPOSALS FOR 2022 Marine Le Pen has unveiled an extensive program, with 22 pork proposals for 2022, sweeping around twenty subjects, and in particular economic subjects, (which was one of her alkynes), which she seems to have better mastered than in 2017, in the face of to Emmanuel Macron. She got down to work long before the war in Ukraine on the most sensitive subject, purchasing power, essentially targeting the popular and middle class chalices. The subject of insecurity and the fight against mass immigration has been diminished, given the jeopardization by the new candidate Eric Zemmour, of whom he is the spearhead. She suggests a referendum to decide to reduce massive immigration to France and proposes to send foreign offenders back to their countries, which if they refuse to welcome them, will be deprived of money transfers via Western Union, from France. .

The other aspect of her successful campaign (so far), is her persona, as she leaves serene, calm, in the face of adversity, and even gives the impression of a woman who feels good about herself" this makes the candidate sexier, because she is neither aggressive nor offensive, rather smiling and going through the chapters of her program, saying she is "ready to preside over France" in contrast to 2017, where she is not.... It emerges from Marine Le Pen, a femininity buried for several previous years, from this lawyer heiress of the Jean Marie Le Pen clan, whose party (FN) Front National was associated with an extreme endowment hard to see "fascists" according to certain commentators and journalists...

Her peaceful candidate profile can better attract the sympathy of the incarnation of a future President of the Republic, because it is subliminally more attractive and sexy, for a voter, who will prefer to elect a leader of serene appearance...

MARINE LE PEN IS RUNNING FOR FRENCH PRESIDENCY FOR THE 4TH TIME IN AND CALLS HERSELF "READY TO GOVERN" This is the fourth time that Marine Le Pen has run for the presidential elections (2002, 2012, 2017 and 2022). IN 2017, Marine Le Pen was facing Emmanuel Macron in the second round, and had missed her debate between rounds> When asked if she had red the page or kept a "trauma" from this debate, Marine Le Pen, readily acknowledges to be "unprepared for this debate" and responds "Our difficulty is to show that our solutions are very solid", adding "April 10 at 8:02 p.m., everything changes and we reset everything", talking about the next election of 2022. In 2017, Marine Le Pen, who had managed to expand her sphere of influence in the National Rally by creating a "patriotic and republican alliance" with the sovereignist Nicolas Dupont-Aignan (4.7% of the votes cast in the first round) with Celle- it will however be ephemeral and not renewed, on the initiative of Nicolas Dupont-Aignan, in the legislative elections of June 2017.

ERIC ZEMOUR HELPED UP MARINE LE PEN BY HAVING AN EVEN MORE RADICAL DOCTRINE THAN HER & CREATING A NEW NATIONALIST RIGHT WING WITH "RECONQUETE"

However, since the victory of Emmanuel Macron's election in 2017, the hypothesis of a second round in 2022 between the outgoing president and Marine Le Pen seemed the most likely, even if according to the polls, still, a new outsider, Eric Zemmour arrives in the current campaign, which has upset the political spectrum. Indeed Eric Zemmour, a former political journalist, created a new political party, "Reconquete" in three months, which absorbs the electorate of the candidate of the National Rally, Marine Le Pen, as well as that of Valerie Pécresse, the candidate of Right (LR Les Républicains). The goal of Eric Zemmour being to reunite the right, from LR to RN. (Right and extreme Right). The two candidates, Valerie Pécresse and Eric Zemmour, have had their ups and downs, with a fluctuating % of opinion of vote, and have stagnated for a few weeks at 10% for each, while Marine Le Pen is estimated at 20% of voting intentions, in second last Emmanuel Macron has 27%. According to the barometer, she would today be beaten by Emmanuel Macron in the second round, by 59% of the votes against 41%.

MARINE LE PEN IS EVEN SHAPING UP HER ROLE OF INTERNATIONAL LEADER This electoral base has been constant for a long time. In 1988, in 1995, in 2002, Jean-Marie Le Pen was between 15 and 17% of the votes. It is a faithful electorate, to Marine Le Pen, who knew how to exploit the subject which concerns the daily life for all the citizens, and knew how to respond with finesse by positioning itself in the face of the military invasion of Ukraine by Russia. She condemned Russia, without "regretting" her old words, and said she was "of course" in favor of welcoming Ukrainian refugees. Journalists have often teased her about her visit to Moscow, the only French woman politician, received by Vladimir Putin, in March 2017, knowing that this men head of state was welcomed at the Versailles boat, Grand Trianon in May 2017, then in August 2019 at Fort de Bregancon (Presidential Summer Residence) by the current President Macron.../
